The AZIMUT MAGELLANO 66 is the fifth model in Azimut's Magellano range of semidisplacement yachts.
This 66-foot motor-yacht features a unique "dual-mode hull," with double chines, a wave-cutting vertical bow and substantial forward volume for smoother and more efficient operation.
Powering the vessel are two 800 Hp Volvo diesel engines which allow her to cruise at 9 knots when travelling under full displacement and between 16 and 18 knots when semi-planing. The top speed is of 22 knots.
At her cruising speed, the AZIMUT MAGELLANO 66 has a range of 900 nautical miles which is simply much more than any other boat this size on the market.
Another noteworthy aspect of the AZIMUT MAGELLANO 66 is her interior which gives you the impression of volumes on a much larger yacht. This layout affords plenty of room to relax and socialize.
The main deck is equipped with a large sliding door at the bow. The saloon is away from the pilot station and galley. The style of the main saloon is modern yet refined with wood panelling and cream-colored furnishings. On the main deck is a bar plus TV cabinet and a dining table. Also is an L-shaped sofa and long banks of windows providing sweeping views. The lower deck houses a full-beam master suite plus two VIP cabins and a fourth cabin that can be configured as a pantry.
The boat sleeps eight guests in 4 sizeable cabins and two crew. Exterior spaces on the main deck of the AZIMUT MAGELLANO 66 include a padded lounging area with table at the bow and a shaded seating and dining area aft.
The exterior highlight is the flybridge which is especially large for a boat this size. Her features a dining table plus a sun pad and enough space for lounge chairs As well as a hard-top with opening sunroof is providing shade for long stints at sea.
